

August 4 & 5, 2010

University of Tulsa

Neil Olonoff

Neil Olonoff is a Knowledge Management (KM) and Organizational Development (OD) consultant and theorist. He has a diverse consulting background and currently is Lead KM Consultant in the KM Office of the U.S. Army G-4 (Logistics). He has also been associated with Open Text, MCI WorldCom, Department of Labor, General Services Administration, and has worked in many other organizations.

He earned an MS in OD and KM from George Mason University in Fairfax, VA. His practicum, entitled "The Conversant Organization," focused on conversation, trust and knowledge sharing. He is on the board of International Knowledge Management Institute and is a founding member of Army Knowledge Strong. He is the Lead for the Federal Knowledge Management Initiative under the Federal KM Working group which aims to create a Federal KM Center and instill knowledge management throughout the Federal Government. He is also an Accredited Cognitive Edge Practitioner.

He is currently completing a doctorate in the Taos Tilburg PhD program; his dissertation is on the topic, Knowledge Management: the Relational Dimension.

Shortcut to Neil Olonoff's Profile on LinkedIn:

http://www.linkedin.com/profile?viewProfile=&key=10338086&trk=tab_pro